

The ASCEPT Special Interest Groups Forums are open again. However, you will need to self-enrol in your desired forum.

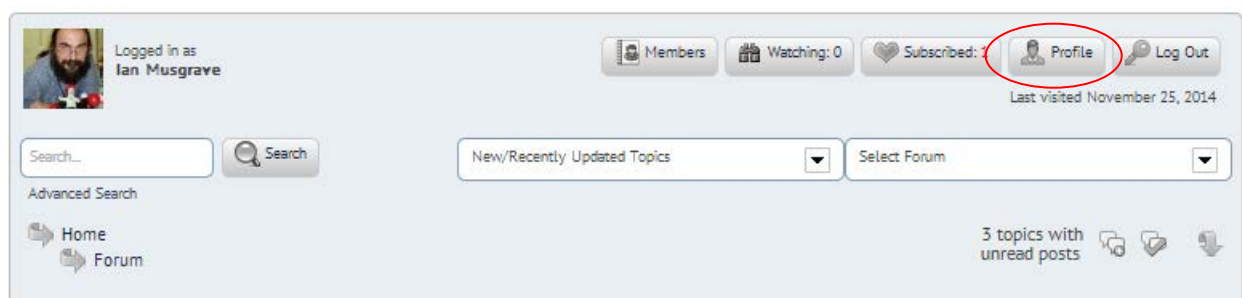

1) Navigate to the ASCEPT website (<https://ascept.org/>), login, then from the Special Interest Groups drop down menu (or dedicated page) choose a forum of interest.

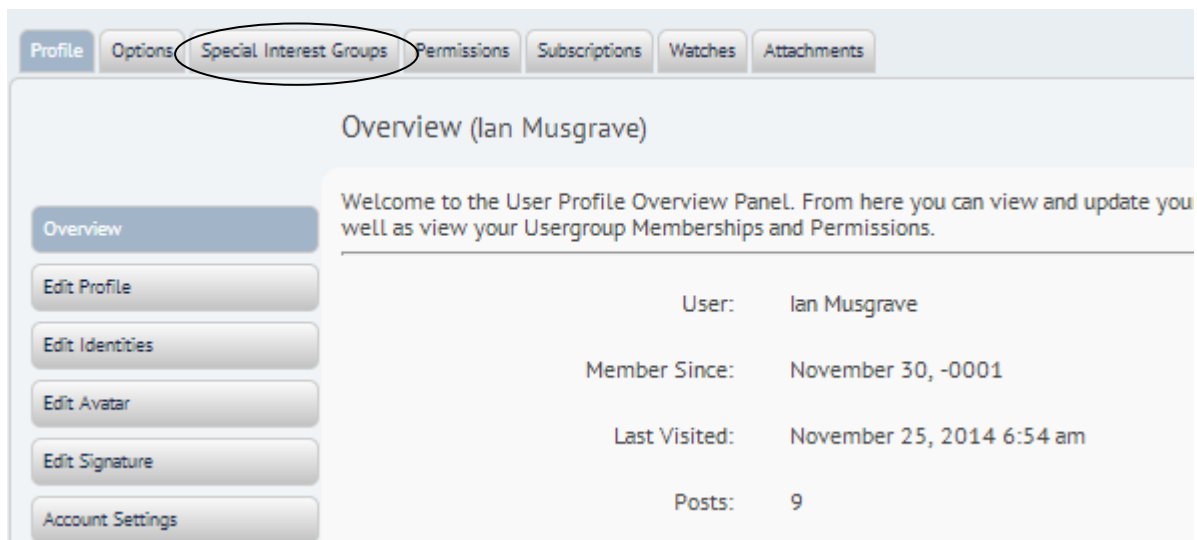

2) Click on the forum link, this will open a new tab with the forum in it.

3) If you have not logged in at stage 1), the site is saying you are not permitted to do anything here, login now using the obvious login button near the top right-hand corner of the page (rather than the whole window).

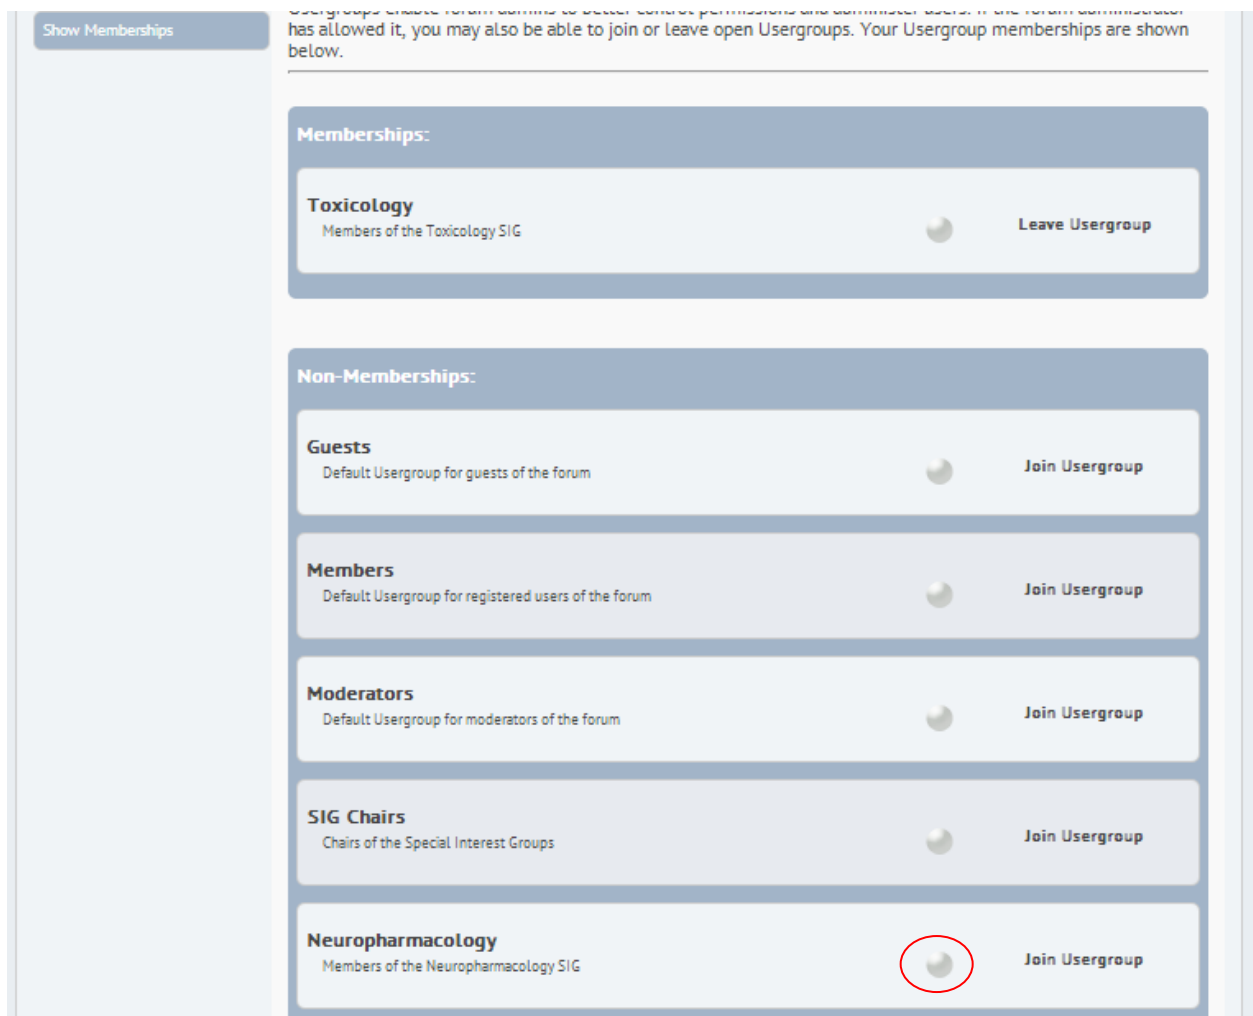

4) The site will now say there is no content for you, click on the obvious profile button (upper right of page, near the login button),

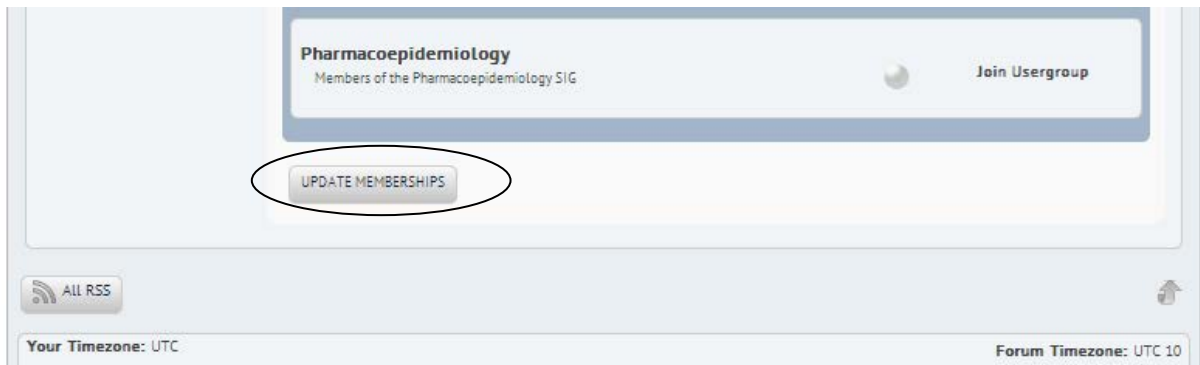

The profile page will now come up, click on the Special Interest Groups tab

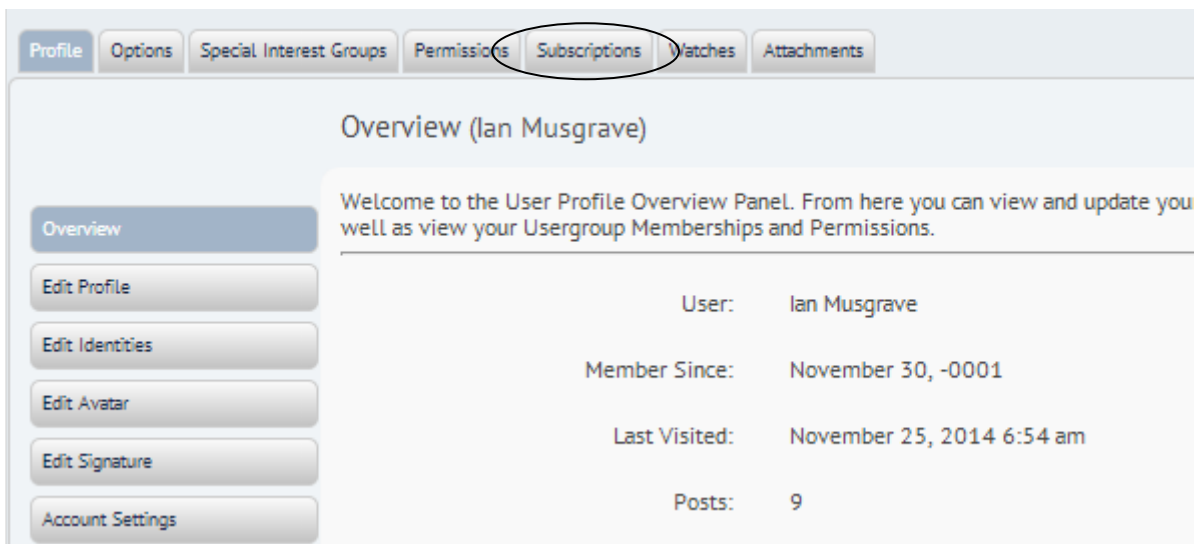

It will now present you with a list of Special Interest Groups you can enrol in (eg Education, Toxicology etc.). You can join more than one.

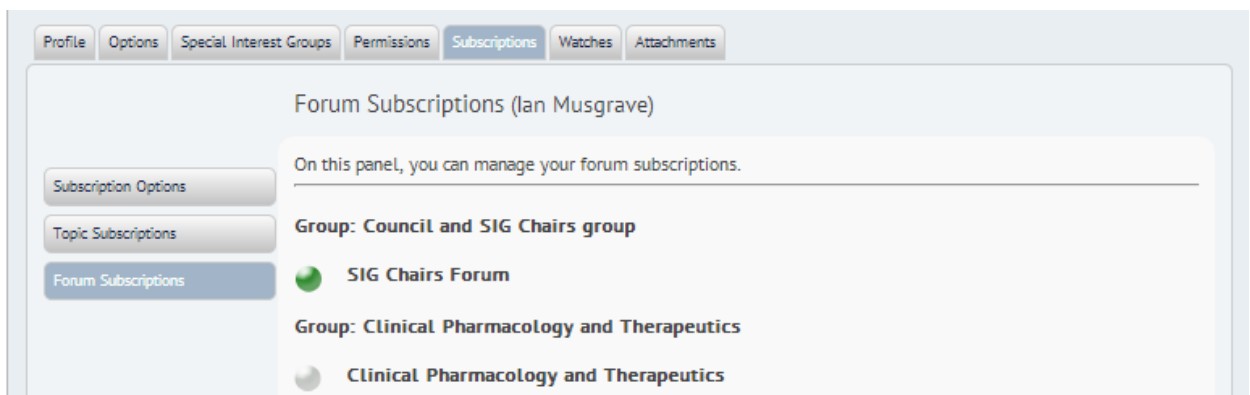

5) Click on the button next to the group or groups you want to enrol in (eg. Neuropharmacology the button turns red), then click the Update Memberships button at the bottom.

6) Then click on the Subscriptions Tab (middle of tabs list), then Forum subscriptions (bottom button on side menu).

If you wish to receive email notifications whenever there is a post in your desired Forum, click the appropriate button (or buttons) then click the Update Subscriptions button at the bottom.

7) Now if you go back to the drop down menu and click the forum again, it should take you direct to the forum and my rather pathetic welcome message. You are now ready to read and post to your hearts content.
